

Many problems can occur with a dog's or cat's skin. Skin irritation can be a minor problem or a symptom of a more serious internal issue. At Griffith Animal Hospital, we are equipped with a variety of medications, shampoos, topical products and tests to treat and diagnose all varieties of skin issues. Many skin issues can be treated with medication or topical products. Some issues require treatment at the hospital such as mange.

If you have any questions or would like to set an appointment, please call us today.

